Dear Sir/Madam,

Your Legal Department (ref: Mr Steve Marcus) advised me yesterday that a letter from your office, dated 11th August 2005 was incorrectly addressed to me and hence was not delivered. My address is 96, Standishgate,

WIGAN, Greater Manchester WN1 1XA,
England (UK).

Wigan is my town's name. Until yesterday, I was blissfully unaware of such a letter.

Previously, I had written a letter to your office explaining that I had vehemently disagreed with the examiner's verdict (Ms. Isis Ghali) that my rewrite bore no resemblance to my original specification. Speaking as a scientist, I had simply edited and therefore shortened my script and deleted the specific Claim to which your office objected. No new material was added. When I respectfully asked for an objectionable word, phrase, paragraph to be described to me, I received no reply.

Please be advised that under no circumstances will I abandon this application. I am seeking your guidance in this matter and am willing to comply with any of your requests. My e-mail address is: denissolomon@yahoo.com

Thanking you,

I remain,

Yours respectfully,

Denis E. Solomon
